此外,本署積極開拓多元賽事交流,包括辦理全國綜合性賽會,提供各類選手競技舞臺,並持續深化國際體育交流,建立雙邊友好合作關係,以擴增國際影響力。我們亦持續精進全民運動環境,包括配合執行前瞻基礎建設、提升學校運動設施設備品質、友善運動設施規劃;並強化全民體能,包括賡續「運動i臺灣2.0計畫」、建立學生運動習慣、女性運動參與、保障身障運動權等。

Director-General's Remarks

2023 was a breakthrough year for sports in Taiwan. On February 8th, the President announced the "Act for Establishment of the National Sports Science Center," and on September 16th, the National Sports Science Center was inaugurated, marking a new era in sports science in Taiwan. The National Sports Science Center will collaborate with the National Sports Training Center to promote sports science research, train outstanding athletes, cultivate sports science talent, enhance the sports technology industry, and promote a nationwide sports culture. This marks a milestone for Taiwan's sports community.

2023 was also a year of outstanding achievement in international multisport events. Taiwan participated in the 31st Summer World University Games in Chengdu, winning a total of 46 medals: 10 gold, 17 silver, and 19 bronze. This saw Taiwan rank 8th in the gold medal tally and 5th in the overall medal tally, Team Taiwan's best international record. At the 2nd Ulaanbaatar East Asian Youth Games, Taiwan won a total of 44 medals, comprising 10 gold, 12 silver, and 22 bronze. Taiwan's fantastic performance continued at the 19th Asian Games in Hangzhou, bringing home a total of 67 medals: 19 gold, 20 silver, and 28 bronze, putting Taiwan 6th in gold medal count and 7th in total medals among 45 participating countries, also tying Taiwan's record for most gold medals at a single Asian Games. Taiwan also took home 20 medals at the 4th Asian Para Games in Hangzhou: 4 gold, 4 silver, and 12 bronze.

This year also saw much preparation being done for the Olympic Games. The SA continued to promote the Gold Project 2.0 in preparation for the Paris 2024 Olympics and Los Angeles 2028 Olympics, providing individualized and customized training and logistical support teams, subsidies, and training programs for athletes of different levels. Every medal is fully the result of athletes' hard work and determination. The Gold Project 3.0, in addition to improving upon Gold Project 2.0's execution, will also include professional sports categories, allowing athletes to fully commit themselves to obtaining more Olympic qualification slots and seeing victory at the Games. To more fully support athletes with disabilities in advancing to the 2024 Paris Paralympic Games, we launched the Paralympics Prep Plan, arranging for Paralympic athletes to be stationed at the National Sports Training Center for the first time. There, they are provided with all-around support for training with comprehensive sports science, tutoring, facilities, professional staff, and logistical support.

Furthermore, we have actively expanded diverse sports events and exchanges, including national multisport events, providing a variety of competitive platforms for athletes. Thus, we are able to continuously improve international sports exchanges to establish bilateral friendly cooperation and increase international influence. We have also continued to improve the national sports environment, including cooperating with the implementation of forward-looking infrastructure construction, enhancing the quality of school sports facilities and equipment, planning accessible sports facilities, and improving national physical fitness. The continuation of the Sports iTaiwan 2.0 Plan helps establish school sports habits, promote female sports participation, and safeguard the rights of the disabled to participate in sports.

To promote inclusive education, we have continued to enhance adaptive sports development, guiding counties and cities to increase teacher capabilities, promote inclusive, diverse, fun, and safe physical education, and increase the budget to subsidize the purchase of sports aids by special education resource centers in counties and cities. This way, we can provide comprehensive care for students with disabilities through resource integration and sharing.

It is worth mentioning that in December 2023, we issued for the amendment of "Regulations Governing Subsidies for National Sports Organizations." These measures encourage sports organizations to independently raise funds and assist in healthy development. Sports organizations that passed the previous year's site visits for financial and accounting items are exempt from repaying other derived income generated by the subsidy plan, which can be used instead for promoting sports.

At the end of 2023, we hosted the 2023 Taiwan Sports Industry Expo over 10 days at the Songshan Cultural and Creative Park. The theme of the expo was "Light up the World, Take the Stage, and Dynamic Industry." The expo combined activities with organizing multiple industry forums to showcase the diverse aspects and development trends of Taiwan's sports industry, attracting more than 170,000 visitors. At this grand year-end event, everyone witnessed the momentum of sports industry development, the result of the collaborative efforts of our interdisciplinary team with individuals from all walks of life.

To further our support of sports development, our team will continue seeking advice from and collaborating with industry professionals, government, academia and research, and sports organizations to strive for a new vibrant future for Taiwan.
